PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Video Editor and 3rd-year student in the Computer Teacher Preparation Department for Students with Special Needs, Faculty of Specific Education, Banha University. His editing journey began with mobile-based CapCut projects during preparatory school, developed further on CapCut PC throughout high school, and was formalized through a self-directed Adobe Premiere Pro course during his second year of university. Has since worked across academic multimedia projects, podcast-to-video adaptation, and spoken-content editing, turning raw footage and audio into structured, visually engaging edits for Reels and YouTube. Comfortable with transitions, sound effects, and color grading, with a growing focus on storytelling through visual pacing.
